Perrin On All Cen-Tex

'HOOK 'EM HORNS' — When Texas' fifth-ranked Longhorns take to the Orange Bowl gridiron New Year's Day against National Champion Alabama, they can be assured there's a special place in Cameron even for the youngest Texas fan. This tree house, embellished in orange and white and UofT slogans, is at the home of Mrs. T. L. Denson, 300 East Sixth St., where it was built earlier this year for her grandchildren when they visit. It is lighted and sets amidst this tall tree in the sideyard.

Kolba, of the home; a son, Frank Kolba, Denison; a daughter, Mrs. Nell Hochkraut, Pasadena, a brother, Willie Kolba, Temple; three sisters, Mrs. Vince Marak, Denver, Colo., Mrs. F. F. Sneed and Mrs Bob Clement, both of Cameron; three grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Rockdale's Perry, Panthers' Spivey, Bierds Named

Mike Perrin, powerhouse senior YHS halfback, joined Rockdale end Copie Perry and 22-A semi-finalist Rosebud's Drew Bierds and Ronnie Spivey on the super-Centex grid squad.

Named by the sports staff of the Waco Tribune-Herald, Perrin joined 24 other Central Texas athletes from a field of 2,500 grid players on the mythical honor squad. They were chosen from schools from One to Four A classifications.

Mack McKinney, YHS junior quarterback, was in the running for the honor squad as was Carl Foster of Rogers, but it was kept at a traditional number of 25.

Perrin's team leadership and individual performance combined in his selection. The Yoemen became the Cinderella team of 17AA by going undefeated in district, climaxing the regular season with a 16-0 defeat of a strong Rockdale club, sparked by Tiger end Perry.

And Cameron was the only team in regular season play to defeat Double A powerhouse Marlin which placed three players on the Cen-Tex squad. Marlin went to the finals of Double A playoffs before being defeated by Palacios, which the week before defeated the Taylor Ducks, playoff victors over the Yoemen, 12-7.

Marlin placed backs Steve Palacios and Larry Lawless and center Joe Hardaman on the honor team.

Rosebud's Bierds and Spivey led Rosebud to the One A semi-finals before the Panthers were upset by Ingleside.

Hollis Biddle wrote of the 1964 selections: "We feel it is one of the strongest teams ever picked by the Tribune-Herald during the 10 years of selecting these teams.

"The 1964 team represents 18 schools in Central Texas including State Class AA finalist Marlin, Class A semi-finalist Rosebud, Class A quarter-finalist Clifton, Waco City Champion Waco High and district champions Richfield, Cameron and Hubbard," Biddle wrote.

Players and their coaches will be honored with a banquet by the Waco newspaper next month.

A panel of School Board members will answer questions posed by Cameron citizens at the Parent-Teachers Association meeting at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 7 at the Ben Milam Cafetorium.

Other members of the Board are Alton Fuchs, K. D. (Buster) Griffin and Niley J. Smith, president.

LASER ERASER? Ordinary typewritten characters can be completely and quickly erased by focusing pulses of laser light on them, says a Stanford professor. The beam vaporizes the carbon, leaving the paper unmarked.

This suggests the possiblity of pencils being tipped with a laser light instead of an eraser. What happens if the pulse is too strong? Would there be any paper, typewriter or desk left?

According to science fiction, "things" from outer space, equipped with such powerful rays, will someday visit us. But the world is ready.

County Agent Notes

Local Economy To Be Same In'65

By J. D. Moore
Milam County Agnet

Consumer and state and local government spending should help our country have another year of high economic activity.

"Such spending is expected to provide the major economic stimulus in 1965, with consumer purchases entering primarily on non-durable goods and services," reports John G. McHaney, Extension economist, Texas A&M University. "The outlook, however, is not as clear as the '64 picture appeared at this time last year."

Prospects point to further increases in total output, employment and consumer income. The civilian labor force is expected to be somewhat larger than in the past several years and the advance in total economic activity may not be large enough to absorb this increase. As a result, the rate of unemployment will remain high, he says.

"Consumer purchases of nondurable goods and services will increase," McHaney says, "while sales of such durable goods as automobiles are not expected to match those of 1964. Even though the auto industry may not contribute to expanding the economy over 1964, it is likely to have a prosperous year."

A downward trend in housing starts could have a dampening effect on purchases of such durables as house furnishings and equipment. Little or no additional economic stimulus is thus foreseen from this source.

An increase of more than $5 billion in state and local government purchases is in view for the coming year. This increase would be at a faster rate than in 1964 and would definitely spur the economy, he adds.

Federal purchases of goods and services, however, are anticipated to show little variation, due mainly to the holding down of defense expenditures, nevertheless, some drastic economic shift could bring about a change in government policy in this area, points out the economist.

Helping to determine the country's pace of economic expansion are investment expenditures for new plants and equipment. This year's investments will probably run about 13 percent above 1963, one of the largest annual increases in post-war years, predicts the economist.

"Such investments in 1965, however, are expected to fall short of a similar substantial increase," therefore, is not likely to add to the gross national product.

SCS Recomends Weeping Love Winter Grass

By SCS Staff

Weeping lovegrass has been planted to some extent in Milam County for several years, but it has never been very popular. In most cases it was planted on poor soil and received little management in terms of fertilization and proper grazing use. Consequently, the value of lovegrass as an important forage was forgotten.

Research people and District cooperators in other parts of the State took a longer look at weeping lovegrass and came up with a management system that made a place for the grass. This system should fit in the Taylor and Central Texas Soil Conservation Districts.

Even though weeping love is a warm season grass, it is being used successfully to fill in those winter months when normal grazing is scarce. The management used is to fertilize it lightly and defer grazing until about December. The grass cures well in the pasture from December until March and eliminates the need for costly hay during these months. Such a grass fits in with our high producing coastal Bermuda to provide year long grazing.

Several District cooperators in the county are making plans to include this grass in their program this year. They will plant it between March 1st and April 30th on a good seedbed that is clean and firm. Management will be primarily for winter grazing.

ACP cost-share assistance will be available on weeping lovegrass this year along with coastal and common Bermudagrass plantings. Technical assistance is available to farmers and ranchers through the Soil Conservation Districts by SCS technicians.

4-H Club Citizenship Practices Termed Framework Of America

By Charles W. Henson
Ass't. County Agent

John Ruskin, English author, said, "The constant duty of every man to his fellows is to ascertain his own powers and special gifts, and to strengthen them for the help of others." This is good citizenship as 4-H Club leaders and members understand it. Citizenship is found deep in the nature of man. Since the beginning of society there have been rites and ceremonies drawing the citizenry together. From the simplest tribal units in the heart of Africa to the highest intellectual civilized Greek society citizenship has been the goal of humanity. The story of ordinary people charged with the hope of liberty and the hope of justice is the story of our first citizens and their unselfish deliberations; it is the story of man's upward climb.

Good citizenship practices are the nails that hold together the framework of America's House of Freedom. Citizenship makes common existence a thing of beauty, the common task a lasting part of what we are, each of us and all of us together. A good citizen is a Steward of Life -- able to stand without fear, without rancor, t defend life itself, if need be, but above all to see through the eyes of Christ and live in brotherly love.

The four-fold or 4-H Club program starts with the individual, and through family cooperation becomes a joint effort with friends and neighbors for work, fun, and fellowship. But it is more than 4-H project skills and the scientific approach to agriculture and home economics, more than the production of food and fiber and the wise use of our natural resources. It is the rich meaning of experience, the deep joy of ownership, the keen sense of responsibility, and the quiet pride in achievement -- the reward of lessons well-learned and completed. 4-H boys and girls, through the emphasis placed on "Learn by Doing," are directed on the path of honest toil which points out rose among the thorns, the wheat among the chaff, and builds a pattern for the future.

Four-fold citizens learn the deep importance of getting along with others; a respect for rights and duties, the spirit of sportsmanship, and a belief in the dignity and worth of all people. Abraham Lincoln, in speaking of citizenship, said, "I am not bound to win, but I am bound to be true. I am not bound to succeed, but I am bound to live up to the light I have. I must stand with anybody that stands right -- stand with him while he is right and part with him when he goes wrong." As four-fold citizens, 4-H Club members learn that we can't play alone in the game of life. Whatever we plan or do, whatever we give must include our fellow men through a firm adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, frugality and virtue. It has been said, "4-H citizenship does not teach boys and girls how to grow simple great, but how to grow great simply."

The preceding was taken from National 4-H News and was written by Mrs. Arwin F. Bashaw Garellick.

Aliens Must Report Address In January

Mr. J. W. Holland of the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service stated that the period within which aliens must report their addresses is almost at hand.

The month of January has been set for the address reporting period. All aliens in the United States, with few exceptions, must report their addresses to the Government during that period.

Mr. Holland said that forms with which to make the report will be available to all Post Offices and offices of the Immigration and Naturalization Service during the month of January.

He urges all aliens to comply with the reporting requirements, as willful failure to do so may lead to serious consequences.

Hugh Smiths Pack For Mexico Trip

Christmas will be around a little longer this year for Mr. and Mrs. Hugh F. Smith of Cameron. They are packing for a fiesta trip to Mexico City the middle of January. Mr. Smith of Milam Tractor Co., the local Massey-Ferguson dealer, paid his way to Mexico by his sales performance during the past year.

They will be airlifted into Mexico in company with 300 other dealers from more than 40 take-off points in Canada and the United States. Each group will stay in Mexico four days and then return to their hometowns in aircraft that a few hours before delivered another 300 to attend the product demonstration.

They will visit Teotihuacan, near Mexico City, the site of one of the major early cultures. There they will see a pageant on the Indian culture performed exclusively for them for the first time on the ruins of a once-great civilization by the famed Teatro Classico de Mexico. The tractor demonstrations will be held on the grounds of Mexico's National Agricultural College at Chapingo, some 40 miles from Mexico City.

Babson Forecast For 1965

Promising the people of the United States "peace and prosperity," President Johnson was carried to victory last November on an overwhelming landslide. By nature he is more likely to compromise than to contest. Also, he is deeply sincere in his desire to accelerate the economic growth of this country and to wipe out poverty.

But we must not forget that both Woodrow Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt promised to keep America out of "Foreign" wars. And already the British financial crisis has forced the Federal Reserve to raise its discount rate to 4 per cent -- despite Pres. Johnson's dislike of higher money rates. Therefore, as we look forward to 1965 from our more than 60 years of experience in forecasting and analysis, we emphasize once again that the great rolling tides of economic fundamentals and social currents are likely to have a greater impact on what is to unfold than will the campaign promises of successful candidates.

1. There will be no war with Russia during 1965. The Russian people want some of the "peace and prosperity" that Pres. Johnson promised our citizens.

2. Watch Russia's satellites in 1965. They will try to make a deal with the new Moscow Administration which will involve more trade and prosperity and less politics. Following Khrushchev's fall, the satellites will aim for more consumer goods for their people rather than more personal freedom.

3. Russia will not bring the Berlin issue to a crisis in 1965. The tendency will be to soft-pedal talk about Berlin until Red China's course of action becomes clearer.

4. Red China made the biggest news in 1964 by exploding a nuclear bomb. In 1965, Communist China's greatest effort will be to gain admission to the United Nations. World leaders cannot ignore this awakening giant with its 700,000,000 people. We believe there is a 50-50 chance that the Red Dragon will get into the UN in 1965.

5. However, Communist China will not risk all-out war in the year ahead. She has neither a sufficient stockpile of nuclear bombs nor adequate means of delivering them in quantity. Red China's biggest use of her newfound power will be to "blackmail" the West.

6. Regardless of what happens in the next few months, we look for Pres. Johnson to compromise on the situation in South Vietnam sometime during 1965 and move toward "neutralization."

7. Conditions in Cuba are not likely to change radically in 1965. to handicap Castro; neither will they do much to help him. Thus Castro will be unable to deliver the economic help he has been promising other Latin American nations. And with world sugar prices down, the Cuban chieftain will try to make a deal with the United States before the end of 1965.

8. Cutbacks in defense spending will not result in radical unemployment in the U.S. in 1965. Companies and regions seriously affected by the loss of "conventional" defense work will shift to meet the rapid changes due in our system of defense during the next few years.

9. Our Defense Department, under Sec. McNamara's leadership, will increase efforts in 1965 to produce new super-weapons. It is realized there would be no Maginot or other "line" to protect any country in future wars. Control of space will be the new aim in defense.

10. Intensified emphasis on new space-age defenses will provide more jobs in 1965 than the closing down of obsolete installations will eliminate.

11. The stock market will continue to be a paradox in 1965. The Dow-Jones Industrial Average may push to 1000 before any real turn-around takes place. Many stocks, however -- including numbers of issues oriented to conventional warfare and defense -- will still do little or nothing. Look for greater selectivity in stocks next year.

12. 1965 may be an advantageous time for investors to put very small sums of money into "space" stocks. These are outright speculations, but so were the ventures of Columbus, Magellan, and other explorers of the past. If there were no risk-takers there would be no progress. Such "investments," however, should be well diversified and limited to amounts you would be prepared to lose.

13. Cash dividend payments should increase in 1965...although at a much slower rate than has been the case this year.

14. No assessment of finances in the United States can be made without carefully weighing Britain's plight. We are convinced that unless the Labor Government adopts strict austerity measures, the pound will fall before the end of 1965.

15. Until the fate of the pound is resolved, short-term interest rates must be kept high to prevent foreigners from withdrawing their deposits held here. Also, domestic demand for credit promises to remain strong. Hence, interest rates will edge upward during 1965.

16. There may be some erosion in bond prices as interest rates move upward, but there should be no massive decline unless a real credit crisis develops. Investors making new purchases would do well, however, to stick now to bonds maturing within five years. Sometime during 1965 longer bonds may become good buys.

17. Inflation fears may rise in 1965; but we do not look for runaway prices next year as productive capacity is too large.

18. More wage hikes are certain in 1965. Liberal concessions won in the auto and other industries in 1964 provide tempting targets for the steel unions and secondary labor groups to shoot at in 1965.

19. To the extent -- and this could be considerable -- that higher costs cannot be compensated for by price hikes and greater efficiency, profit margins will suffer in 1965.

20. Indeed, despite the projected 2 percent cut in the corporate income tax rate next year, we look for only a very slight overall rise in corporate profits...nothing to compare with this year's huge 20 percent expansion.

21. Labor disputes will be numerous in 1965. Many labor pacts can, and will, be reopened for wage adjustments during the coming year.

22. Employment will continue favorable in 1965, but additions to rolls will be most noticeable in fields such as teaching, personal services, and government work.

23. Little real progress will be apparent in the drive to reduce unemployment. We are only now just "touching off" the big new explosion in growth of the labor force.

24. Due to rising labor costs, look for business to turn even more to automation and labor-saving devices in 1965. Pressures on profit margins will spur cost-cutting and efforts to raise productivity.

25. Because of rising expenses and overwhelming competition, a further increase in failures will be seen in 1965.

26. As a result of automobile strikes in late 1964 and the fear of a possible steel shutdown in mid-1965, we look for a bulge in business volume during the first half of 1965.

27. In a nutshell, business should make new all-time highs in early 1965; after midyear, a tapering-off appears likely. However, 1965 will set another new record.

28. Following the strike interruptions of late 1964, personal income should move smartly ahead to new highs in the first half of 1965...although the rate of advance will slow after midyear.

29. This projected rise in income will be beneficial to retail trade. And though buying in the second quarter may be dampened by heavy income-tax payments due Uncle Sam on April 15th as a result of under-withholding during 1964, the last half of the year will find retail trade in certain lines -- such as furs and jewelry -- spurred by Pres. Johnson's promised excise-tax cuts.

30. The important automobile industry should post another excellent sales year in 1965, but as the year advances we feel that gains will be harder to come by.

31. The powerful building and construction activities should prove a strong support to general business during 1965...even though we foresee no marked improvement. Some gain in dollar volume will be largely due to higher costs. Apartment building has been overdone in some sections and a breathing spell is logical. One- and two-family houses could post a small increase, but the big market for new housing is still some years distant.

32. Overextension of credit and overambitious operators have put the real estate market in a bind in many large metropolitan areas. We strongly advise caution in making new commitments, especially in commercial real estate where a thin equity exists.

33. However, even if scarcer than in recent years, there will still be opportunities for selective purchases of real estate in 1965. Each area is a law unto itself. Know your locality and study the direction of growth trends. Farm land bought in the path of expanding suburbs may be a better long-term buy in 1965 than stocks.

34. Nonfarm real estate foreclosures will continue in an uptrend during 1965. This should be particularly true in regions where overbuilding of speculative homes has taken place and where cutbacks in defense spending cause local distress.

35. Productive farm land that lends itself to mechanization will not decline in price in 1965. Rising use of farm equipment makes it necessary for operators to cultivate ever-larger spreads. This trend is maintaining the demand for fertile acreage in the farm belt.

36. As 1965 begins, prices for agricultural products are generally well above their lows for 1964. Unless severe widespread drought intervenes, we look for no more than seasonal strength in agricultural prices during the year ahead. In a word, we do not see any near-term important uplifting forces on the farm scene.

37. The situation in industrial commodity prices is somewhat different. With business heading higher in the first half and with labor costs scaling new peaks, industrial commodity prices, with some exceptions, will push upward at least during the coming six months.

38. Living costs will also rise to new all-time heights. And, since Pres. Johnson is committed to getting Medicare passed at this session of Congress, look for hospital, nursing, and doctors' fees to spurt before the end of 1965.

39. Even with federal income taxes already slated to drop a notch next year and with prospects excellent that excise taxes will be cut, rejoicing should be restrained by the knowledge that local taxes will take another uptwist and social security levies will rise again...even faster after the 89th Congress enacts Medicare.

40. Climbing capital goods outlays will be one of the brightest spots for 1965. Gains over this year could run as high as 10 percent.

41. Further progress in United States exports will be harder to achieve in the coming year. Certainly, if the steel labor outlook appears bad by mid-spring, heavy imports of foreign steel may be resorted to by U.S. businessmen. This would result in a narrowing of our favorable trade balance and have a further adverse impact on the US. international balance

42. Although we are not forecasting runaway inflation for 1965, we do feel that attempts to keep money easy in this country, in the face of a world-wide trend toward tighter credit, will greatly increase the danger of a later inflationary blow-off. Conditions remind us of the late 1920's when the Federal Reserve here kept credit too cheap and plentiful to support the British pound. Hence the eventual collapse came from an even more dangerous level.

43. It is unlikely that the United States will raise the price of gold during 1965. However, we may well see the calling of a monetary conference to deal with the weakened British financial situation and to attempt greater liquidity for world currencies generally.

44. As far as gold stocks are concerned, they are already high and should only be held in 1965 as insurance against the long-range trend toward higher world prices for gold.

45. The silver coinage situation will become more acute as the year progresses. The 89th Congress will be forced to consider a new silver coinage act. If it is not passed in 1965, it will be shortly thereafter.

46. Returning to the all-important foreign scene -- since we are very much wrapped up in the future of the Free World -- we forecast further instability among the Russian leadership. Khrushchev's ouster marked only the beginning of the coming power grab in Moscow. The real leader has not yet emerged.

47. Ascendancy of the African and Asian nations to a position of control in the United Nations will force the United States in 1965 to take action alone when vital spheres of influence are violated. The UN will become even more of a debating society; and month by month the chances grow dimmer that we will ever again see United Nations troops used for rescue operations such as in Korea or the Congo.

48. Following the British crisis, Gen. de Gaulle will work harder than ever in 1965 to unite Europe as a great third force between Communism and the United States. Pres. Johnson is well aware that the winds of change are blowing strongly in Western Europe. 1965 could see the beginning of the end for transatlantic union as envisioned by U.S. Administrations during the past two decades.

49. World-wide credit problems and restrictions on trade cast dark shadows on investment prospects abroad. Many nations which have shown great growth during the past 20 years will be poor risks for new commitments during the year 1965.

Jim Baskin Pleads City's Case In S. A. $2,650,000 Award

Jim Baskin Jr., formerly of Cameron, was one of three attorneys representing the San Antonio City Public Service Board in their successful court battle against General Electric, Westinghouse and Allis Chalmers which ended last week.

The 49 day trial, longest in Bexar County history, ended with a settlement in favor of the City in the amount of $2,650,000. The City of San Antonio contended that it had been overcharged in its purchase of about $40 million worth of products from the three defendants.

The San Antonio Express reported that Board attorneys James D. Baskin Jr., W. L. Matthews and Richard Goldsmith received $250,000 in fees from the total award of $2,650,000.

The trial, ending in its 57th day, may have been the longest ever held in Texas according to Federal Judge Adrian Spears who heard the case. Almost 7,200 pages of transcript were prepared by three court reporters who took hour stints, The Express story said.

Baskin is the son of Mrs. James Baskin Sr., now of Austin, and the late James D. Baskin Sr.

TAKE YOUR PROBLEMS TO CHURCH THIS WEEK

Millions Leave Them There!

HELP HIM TO HOLD FAST TO THAT GOOD DISPOSITION

"Congratulations Mother and Daddy, he is indeed what you both term him—a darling and a fine boy. Your major assignment is to keep him that. He has been created with a good disposition. It is your first duty to do all within your power to see that he retains that disposition. Train him to hold fast to faith that conquers fear, love that conquers hate, and a sound mind that is not handicapped with complexes."

"Don't overlook or fail to enlist the power of your church in this responsibility. Attendance at the church from which you draw the most will serve you as a guide and counselor in helping you to discharge your responsibility well. Then as your child grows up in the church he will have one more positive aid in helping him to hold fast to his heritage—the exceptional disposition with which he was born."

Santa Fe To Spend $115 Million In '65

Santa Fe Railway's capital expenditure program for 1965 will approximate $115 million, the largest such outlay in history, Ernest S. Marsh, president announced in a year-end statement. This compares with expenditures of $109 million in 1964.

The major portion of the 1965 program is for 4,500 new freight cars of various types and 100 new diesel locomotives, Marsh said.

Marsh described the large expenditure as "...A case of spending money to make money. We must have cars to take care of our cutomers and generate more revenue."

Other major improvements in the 1965 program include the laying of 118 miles of continuous welded new rail in main track and 107 miles of continuous welded reconditioned rail in secondary main and branch lines. Additionally, the plans cover completion of the micro-wave communications system linking Chicago with California by finishing the segment between Topeka, Kansas and Chicago, Ill.

New Pipeline To Add Available Gas

DALLAS - An additional 45 million cubic feet of gas a day will be made available to Waco and the area south of it by completion of a 57-mile natural gas transmission pipeline on December 19-20 by Lone Star Gas Company. Completion of the line coincides with the arrival of this year's coldest weather.

"This new line measurably strengthens the supply of gas available to all Lone Star customers in Waco and south of Waco," Louis B. Hulcy, vice president in charge of Lone Star's General Division of Distribution, said. "Our gas supply in the South Texas area is the best in Lone Star's history."

Its latest achievement was the winning of the Basic Training Command's 1964 Efficiency Award. Primary mission of the station is to provide support for tenant training squadrons which teach student aviators to fly.

Prologue For 1965

We sat down and listed the good things that can happen in Cameron during 1965, many of them assured.

The list made itself impressive: a new library approximating 3,000 square feet, prospect of a modernized airport, additional street construction, new band uniforms, more new home construction, an enlarged hospital, further school improvements, more winning football, among others.

Can you add to the list for the coming year?

This prospect list is as long for projected community improvements as any January 1 forecast has allowed.

The year preceding, 1964, was decisive in making basic community decisions on many of these vital centers of interest. The groundwork of previous years, of earlier aspirations to meet these needs will find continued success for the Cameron and Milam community.

None of these developments has come easily. But each additional one is easier; its value is better understood in the light of satisfaction of meeting a prior need.

Cameron has completed a round of church expansion and building, its hospitals have additional beds, its throughway roads are about the best of modern history, its attitude is positive toward meeting needs now, its home building is steady, its streets continue to be paved, its business community continues to refine and modernize.

This is the prologue of prospects of 1965. And it speaks well for Cameron and the Milam community.

The Rights of Queens and First Ladies

Lady Bird Johnson "loved" her birthday presents but preferred not to tell what they were. It may be a small thing in the light of history. But in the personal life of public families it could be the start of something big; namely, the preservation of some shred of privacy.

A man who chooses to go public has to expect a certain exposure of what he eats for breakfast, etc. The public interest in such details can be a measure of affection as well as curiosity. But he and his deserve to be able, if they wish, to keep within the family circle whatever has no effect on the public welfare.

And what of a queen, who has not even had a choice in becoming a public figure? We applaud Queen Elizabeth II for protesting about cameramen spying with telescopic lenses on her private picnicking.

She tactfully presented her views for independent investigation by the Press Council. The council rightly condemned a trespassing photographer and warned editors about photos from such sources.

The freedom of the press will not be endangered by a courteous regard for privacy of national figures. The public doesn't need to know what was in the picnic hamper or under the Christmas tree. —Christian Science Monitor

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Care to change your name? According to a survey, one-third of all adult Americans are dissatisfied with the name they bear. And in substantial numbers they are trading it in for a new model.

There are two ways to make the change. In most states, you can take your choice of either method.

First, you can do it yourself. All that is necessary is to get yourself generally known by the new name. The trouble is, the process is too gradual. There may be uncertainty, at any given moment, as to whether the change has really 'Taken." And doubts about your name can cause complications in everything from collecting a debt to taking out insurance, from getting a credit card to selling your home.

The second method of name-changing, by court order, is far better. A formal request is submitted to the appropriate tribunal. If it is approved, that settles the matter -- instantly.

Of course, the court does not have to approve your request. Your reason for a change might be found unacceptable. Thus, you cannot change your name for such skulduggery as dodging creditors or cashing in unfairly on someone else's good will. Doubtless you would have trouble changing your name to "Woolworth" for the purpose of opening a variety store, or to "Charlie Chaplin" for a fling at comedy.

Too, judges sometimes frown on changes that are notably offbeat. One judge balked at changing a man's name to "Jesus Christ II" ("I don't believe it would be within my discretion"), and another judge said no to a girl's request for "Baby Doll" ("How would it look on a driver's license?").

But as a rule the judge will say yes, leaving it primarily up to the idividual to decide what name he shall carry. In one case, a man wanted to Americanize his Italian name. His relatives, proud of their family background, showed up in court to object. But the court granted the change anyhow, with this comment:

"The law does not require a man to retain and to perpetuate the surname of his ancestors." A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

Cynthia Matula Wins Essay Award

Cynthia Matula, seventh grade student at St. Anthony School, received a cash award recently for her essay in the ninth annual contest held last year by The Educational ABC's of Industry.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Matula, the young student entered an essay on the industry of agriculture. Her entry was among the best sent in from every state in the United States.

The Educational ABC's of Industry is designed completely for use in schools. The purpose of the program is to afford an opportunity for students to gain an insight into the way in which different industries operate. Some of the industy stories included were farm machinery, grain, leather manufacturing, agriculture, fruit and vegetable processing, and oil and gasoline.

MORE BEEF IN '65

Beef production in 1965 is expected to increase only two to three percent over the 1964 output. The number of cattle and calves on hand January 1, 1965, will be up only slightly from last January's total of 106.3 million head, says John McHaney, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Much of the gain will be in calves held from last year's calf crop.

Dateline Austin

Tax, Districting Face Lawmakers

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN - Texas Legislators will be back in Austin on January 12 to grapple with an array of problems which could keep them here throughout the summer.

Congressional and legislative redistricting, taxes and appropriations top the agenda of controversial subjects for the 59th session.

Many lawmakers feel they barely will come to grips with the redistricting issue before expiration of the regular session in May. Special sessions very likely will be necessary to settle this explosive matter in line with the one-man-on-vote theory laid down by court decisions.

Proposed expenditures for higher education and teacher pay raises look like top topics for debate in the spending area.

Other legislation sure to stir strong interest and hot tempers includes horse race betting, oil and gas lease pooling, water planning and development, mixed drink sales and judicial pay raises.

No significant change in the power structure of either house of the Legislature is likely. House Speaker Byron Tunnell is assured of another term and Lt. Gov. Preston Smith will begin his second term as presiding officer of the Senate.

There are only two new members in the Senate and 42 in the House.

CRIME RATE UP - Texas' crime rate jumped nearly 12 per cent in 1964, says the Dept. of Public Safety.

Rate increased from 2,261 offenses per 100,300 population in 1962 to 2,675 this year. This fact led a committee of Texas mayors to call on Gov. John Connally for advice as to action needed. Connally promised to cooperate and urged the 10 mayors to have their city attorneys review proposed revisions in the state code of criminal procedure.

Mayor Hank Avery, Texas Municipal League president, blamed the increase on crowded court dockets, loose bail bond procedures, easy paroles after short imprisonment, weakening of parental responsibility and separate trials for co-defendants. Avery is mayor of Midland.

Dallas Mayor Erik Jonsson and San Antonio Mayor Walter McAllister noted the high number of repeat arrests. Jonsson suggested that traffic violations by drivers with suspended licenses be made penitentiary offenses. He also proposed legislation to make it harder for persons charged with multiple crimes to be released on bond.

STATE SALES TAX - There is guarded talk in the halls of the State Capitol, by lawmakers who would rather remain anonymous for now, that the two-per-cent sales tax will be extended to cover grocery purchases when the 1965 Legislature meets.

State sales tax law passed three years ago brought in $204,733,161 during the fiscal year which ended August 31. This tax accounted for 12 cents of every State revenue dollar.

But expected demands on State resources -- to meet teachers' pay raise, improvement of higher education facilities, and upgrading of other State services -- is expected to be the trigger for making the sales tax applicable to groceries, heretofore exempt.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES - A person cannot be paid as a Texas legislator and as a school teacher at the same time, says Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr.

County judges are authorized to pass on whether informal letters constitute petitions for re-examination of state mental hospital patients. Cherokee Co. Atty. Paul B. Cox of Rush asked the opinion for County Judge J. W. Chandler.

APPOINTMENT - Joe G. Moore Jr., Red River County native and graduate of Clarksville High School who has been Gov. Connally's chief budget examiner for the past two years, has been appointed the governor's administrative staff.

Moore's primary responsibility will be to coordinate Connally's education program. His father, Grady Moore, reserved in the House of Representatives.

EMERGENCY PLANNING - Connally announced the appointment of a retired US Army officer, Col. Laurence T. Ayres, as the Executive Assistant for resources planning in Texas.

Ayres, a native of Aransas Pass, retired in July of 1964 from his military post at Fort San Houston. He will coordinate plans for emergency use of all resources, working closely with Federal agecies having resources responsibilities.

BANDS WASHINGTON-BOUND - Southwest Texas State College band of San Marcos and the University of Texas Longhorn band will represent the State of Texas in the Inaugural Parade following Pres. Lyndon B. Johnson's swearing-in in Washington, D.C., Jan. 20.

State Democratic Chairman Marvin Watson of Daingerfield, speaking for the official Inaugural Committee, announced the committee's selection.

Bands must raise their own funds to pay transportation costs.

We're chiming in with good wishes and grateful thanks to our kind and generous friends.

—OLD PHILOSOPHER—

Dear editar:

"Well, what sort of year did you have?" a neighbor asked me as 1964 drew to a close.

Generally, I've found that the man who asks this question probably had a pretty good year himself, so I never let such people down, I just say "Oh, I can't complain," and then give them a chance to report on theirs, which I figure was what was on their mind in the first place. Another thing I've found out is that people report a much better year when they're talking with people outside their own immediate family. The last thing a man wants to do is let his own folks know he had a good year, financially speaking. It'd be worse than a country on foreign aid announcing its gross national product was up 400 per cent. You've got to remember, a family's rock-bottom, absolute basic needs always stay 10 per cent ahead of what a man's making, regardless of what it is.

But what I really started out to say was what I thought the new year of 1965 will bring.

I know that there are trouble spots all over the world and nobody seems to know what to do about them, but this doesn't bother me because it's normal. Man's problems are always several jumps ahead of his ability to solve them.

My theory is that the amount of brains in one town is always about equal to the amount of brains in any other town, and you carry this forward to nations, and you can see we never quite have the equipment we need. We get along, but the odds for total solution are always against us. And besides, if we solved all the problems we wouldn't know what to do with ourselves, although I'd be willing to try.

Therefore, my prediction is that 1965 will be about normal, although as to what exactly will take place throughout the world, I can't tell you. Me and the State Department haven't figured out yet what took place in 1964.

Yours faithfully,

J.A.

Whitchurch Reports On Cancer Society Work In Milam County

"Every year we seem to be making more progress in our efforts to control cancer," said Jim Whitchurch, president of the Milam County unit of the American Cancer Society, "but every year we seem to realize more and more that we have a long way to go."

In a year end report of the activities of local Cancer group, Mr. Whitchurch pointed out the fact that at the close of 1964 38 percent of the people who develop cancer were being saved while in 1935 only 20 per cent were being cured. "If we can enlarge our educational program of Cancer's Seven Danger Signals, we can save 50 per cent with the knowledge and treatment that science has developed so far; therefore, we hope to reach at least half the population of Milam County with our educational films and materials in the coming year," continued Mr. Whitchurch.

"And we must expand our attack on smoking. The mounting evidence shows that ¾ of all lung cancer, the most deadly cancer, could be prevented if people would recognize the facts and stop smoking. We'll be showing our films on smoking more and more," said Mr. Whitchurch.

Summarizing the Cancer research program, Mr. Whitchurch pointed out that the American Cancer Society, through its voluntary contributions, is spending almost 12 million dollars on research with over $700,000 being spent in Texas Research Institutions. Two very promising areas of research at this time are in chemotherapy, or drugs, and against leukemia. There are now some 24 drugs which are effective in cancer treatment, and scientists are expecting a major break-through against leukemia in the next 5 to 10 years.

"We hope to reach more and more people with our Unit Service Program in the coming year, too," said Mr. Whitchurch. We are equipped to serve people with dressings, beds, wheel chairs, and other equipment, but we are always afraid we are missing someone."

"We want everyone to make a New Year's resolution that they will have a complete physical examination early this year. And we want them to learn Cancer's seven danger signals: Unusual bleeding or discharge, a lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere, a sore that does not heal, change in bowel or bladder habits, hoarseness or cough, indigestion or difficulty in swallowing, and a change in a wart or a mole. If any of these symptoms lasts longer than 2 weeks, the individual should consult his physician immediately."

"We'll be hammering this message in 1965 and every year until cancer is controlled," Whitchurch concluded.

Alcoa Chairman Sees Continued Growth In Aluminum Industry

Pittsburgh, Pa. -- New aluminum production and shipment records for the fourth consecutive year and an improving industry outlook for earnings are foreseen for 1965 by Alcoa Chairman Lawrence Litchfield Jr.

Mr. Litchfield noted in his yearend remarks that Aluminum Company of America's 1964 netsales and operating revenues should total a billion dollars -- the first time in the 76-year history of the industry that an aluminum producer has achieved such corporate stature.

Barring serious disruptions of the economy, Alcoa's chief executive officer predicted both domestic and world consumption of aluminum would continue the year-by-year gains begun a decade ago.

U. S. production of primary aluminum is expected this year to set a new annual record of 2.5 million tons, up about 10 per cent from the 2.3 million ton all-time record set last year. Net shipments should approximate 3.5 million tons, slightly more than 9 per cent above 1963 shipments of 3.2 million tons.

While the United States remains the largest single tonnage market for primary aluminum -- consuming 58 per cent of free world tonnage last year -- overseas utiiization of aluminum will grow at a rate possibly even greater than that obtaining in the United States through the balance of the 60's. Mr. Litchfield believes. He said this statement was based upon expectations of continued growth in the world's industrial economies, corresponding increases in living standards and more intensive research and marketing efforts to accelerate aluminum uses outside this country.

The aluminum industry's increased volume of shipments, Mr. Litchfield commented, has been accompanied by some price firming, which has been reflected this year in improved industry earnings. He added that he expected this tred to continue, with a consequent further improvement in Alcoa and industry net earnings in 1965.

Alcoa's chairman said his company anticipated an increased demand for aluminum products next year, stimulated by the intensive marketing of new and improved products stemming from recent technological advances involving alloys, processes and fabricating techniques.

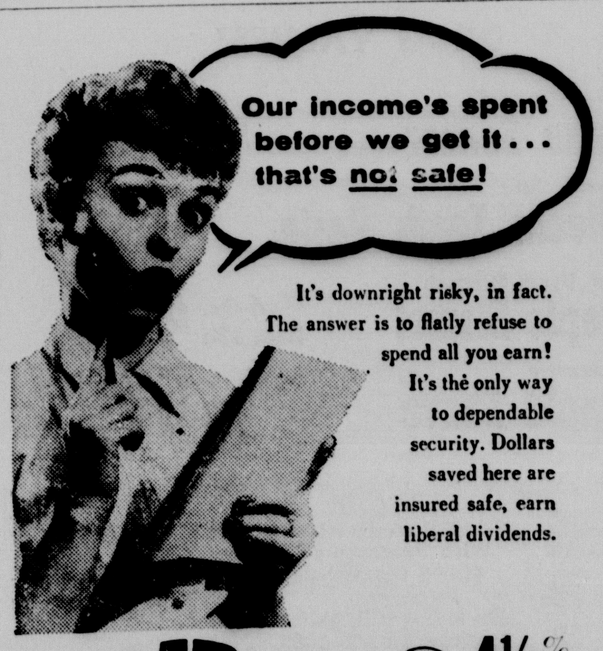
"The industry's 1965 prospects are generally the brightest in years," Mr. Litchfield said. "Never in history has this country and the world been more aware of the merits of aluminum as a useful material, nor more ready to utilize it in new, mass-market products. We expect the next 12 months to demonstrate this most impressively."

BEEF FUTURES TRADING

1964 may long be remembered by brokers as the year cowboys invaded the trading floor. The Chicago Mercantile Exchange in late November began a system of beef cattle futures trading. Major users of the new marketing device are expected to be traditional livestock men -- producers, feeders, dealers and slaughterers, says Ed Uvacek, a Texas A&M University marketing specialist.

PLANT QUALITY SEED

Money invested in quality planting seed is good crop insurance. The use of the best seed of adapted varieties is basic to successful farming, says R. J. Miears, Texas Agricultural Extension Service Agronomist. Now is the time, he adds, to make arrangements for needed seed for planting the 1965 crop.



It's downright risky, in fact. The answer is to flatly refuse to spend all you earn! It's the only way to dependable security. Dollars saved here are insured safe, earn liberal dividends.
